

WREXHAM TOWN CENTRE TOURISM ACCESS GUIDE

Published by the Economic Development Department,
Wrexham County Borough Council.
Designed and produced by Fieldsman Trails © Spring 2004

Introduction

Wrexham is the major centre for shopping and commerce in North Wales. Over the years it has grown from a small market town into a modern vibrant centre with aspirations for university city status. Since 1999 more £150 million of development has brought a transformation to the town, including two new shopping centres and additional pedestrianised streets, creating a pleasant shopping environment.

The town has retained its friendly character and ambience, with the civic hub of the town being the area around Llwyn Isaf, which includes the Guildhall, Council Offices, Library/Arts Centre and a little further away are the Law Courts, Memorial Hall and Police Station.

Throughout all the change the Wrexham skyline has been dominated since 1520 by St. Giles Church, one of the 'Seven Wonders of Wales' and burial place of Elihu Yale, benefactor of Yale University, USA. The town and region's history is recorded in the Wrexham County Borough Museum in Regent Street. The library Arts Centre is also an important source of local history and other information.

Modern Wrexham has an increasing reputation as a venue for major sporting events. International rugby and football are now annual events at the Racecourse Ground with its new Pryce Griffiths Stand. Wrexham's Waterworld is a modern swimming complex catering for all levels of swimming ability.

Wrexham lies at the heart of the 'North Wales Borderlands', the marketing name for the area covering the whole of North-east Wales. The Marcher Castle at Chirk (a National Trust Property) guards the entrance to the beautiful, secret, Ceiriog Valley, the setting for the picture postcard prettiness of the tiny village of Llanarmon Dyffryn Ceiriog and other villages and hamlets. This is where wild Wales begins – in the Berwyn Mountains.

To the south-east of Wrexham, the lush Cheshire Plains begin their transformation into Welsh hills, with picturesque settlements such as Hanmer, Erbistock and Overton. On the banks of the broad River Dee is Bangor-on-Dee, with its National Hunt racecourse. Representative of the area north and west of Wrexham is Ruabon. This part of Wrexham's Borderlands is more built-up, with urban villages and settlements.

There are a number of other notable venues within the area such as the National Trust's Erddig Hall with its unique upstairs-downstairs story, and the famous Llangollen Canal, perhaps the prettiest stretch of canal anywhere, enhanced by major features such as Thomas Telford's Pontcysyllte Aqueduct (a proposed World Heritage site) and Chirk Aqueduct and tunnel. Also a number of other attractions, namely Minera Lead Mines, Ty Mawr Country Park, Plas Madoc and Chirk Leisure Centres.

Disclaimer

Wrexham County Borough Council cannot accept responsibility for any changes in circumstances described in the Guide and associated maps, or any accidents that occur through using the material provided.

May 2004

There are eleven maps lettered A to K in the top right hand corner of an A3 landscape page. These are provided in large print and also tactile format with Braille annotation, on swell paper.

There is a key sheet that describes all the symbols used on the maps to identify features – benches – cash dispensers – crossings, etc.

An index sheet describes the streets covered by each map A to K.

For the Braille version this information is provided on A4 braille paper.

A location sheet shows the areas covered by all of the maps A to K.

Because of the high details of the maps time will be required to familiarise with the layouts and symbols used, preferably before a visit.

The maps can be reprinted from the originals using A3 paper or onto swell or braille paper via a local vision resource centre or the RNIB.

B) Street Descriptions

A major portion of the Town Centre is pedestrianised with limited access for blue badge holders.

These routes for the most part are constructed with brick paviors for the full width giving level access to most shops. Street furniture is very evident.

Certain other routes have limited vehicle access, buses, loading and parking laybys for blue badge holders.

These routes are constructed with a central carriageway of tarmac or paviors, a kerb upstand to a pavement on both sides. Parking bays are located to one or both sides of the carriageway.
